Edelweiss Chocolates: A Sweet Legacy Unique to Beverly Hills

In July, the Beverly Hills Courier will celebrate 50 years in the community. Throughout the year, The Courier will honor the legacy of excellence in Beverly Hills businesses, which have called the City their home since 1965 or earlier. These are our Beverly Hills Heritage Businesses.

By Victoria Talbot
Filling the windows and shelves, heart-shaped boxes of every kind of delicacy fill the store at Edelweiss Chocolates, where they have used the same ingredients and appliances for 73 years. These hand-made confections are still created entirely by hand and made in small batches in the store's little candy kitchen that has brought so many smiles to residents since 1942.

With that kind of individual attention to detail for every single

Beverly Hills Elders: Nan & Gene Corman, The Movie-Maker and His Muse

Part 20 in a series on Beverly Hills residents who have grown with the Centennial City.

By Laura Coleman
Eugene and Nan Corman belong to a Beverly Hills dynasty that was truly dazzling in its heyday. Gene, the MCA agent turned Emmy-winning film producer, still vividly recalls Ingrid Bergman confiding in him that her days were numbered while making A Woman Called Golda. The film was nearly complete, but for Bergman's pivotal portrayal of Golda Meir signing the document making Israel a state.

Not Yet Home In 2015: Anderson Prepares For Freedom

Part two in a three part series on Gene Therapy Pioneer W. French Anderson.

By Laura Coleman
William French Anderson is not your typical man. To begin with, the Harvard-educated "Father of Gene Therapy" clocks a 178 IQ - 16 points above Albert Einstein. It is because of Anderson's pioneering biomedical work that a Brave New World of designer babies is on the horizon, patients with hitherto incurable diseases can heal, and cancer may one day no longer prove a death sentence.

But history is slowly writing him out of the record, and posterity may well never learn the name of the first doctor to perform a gene-therapy procedure.

Massive Changes To Cultural Heritage Ordinance Rejected

By Victoria Talbot
Mayor Lili Bosse and Council Member John Mirisch expressed shock and dismay at a vastly revised Cultural Heritage Ordinance presented by Planning Commissioner Craig Corman and Chair Howard Fisher. Vice Chair Lisa Greer and Commissioner Noah Furie represented the Cultural Heritage Commission.
Virtually every page but one of the original ordinance was redlined.
"This will not be on our council agenda," Bosse said.
Corman, who was the chief architect of the proposal, expressed surprise over the rejection. Corman meticulously recreated the ordinance to reflect the concerns of the Planning Commission.

Mirisch and Bosse seemed to agree top level representatives preservation community that came to express their opposition to the proposed changes to the liaison committee. In public comments members of the Los Angeles Conservancy and others expressed dismay at the changes.

Comments showed dismay at changes in the designation for Master Architects, the intent, purpose and commission's authority, increased oversight from the Planning Commission, a name change

Wal-Mart Heiress Seeks Damages From Bel-Air's 901 Strada Vecchia

By Matt Lopez
An heiress to the Wal-Mart fortune is taking one of Bel-Air's most notorious megamansions head-on.
Through her company LW Partnership, Nancy Walton Laurie, daughter of Bud Walton, brother and business partner of Wal-Mart founder Sam

Walton, has filed a summary judgment in L.A. State Superior Court against 901 Strada Vecchia in Bel-Air.

The nearly 30,000-square-foot home has drawn the wrath of residents over the last several months as allegations of permit violations arose.

CULTURAL HERITAGE

from "Cultural Heritage" to "Historic Preservation," and language that does not reflect standard terminology in State, Federal and local use throughout the country.

Corman justified the name change by saying that cultural heritage was too wide of a designation.

Other changes included changing the term "Historic Resources" to "Eligible Properties," redefining "character defining features," and removing historic districts.

"This goes far beyond streamlining," said Bosse, which was the original charge given to the Planning Commission. The original direction from the council - expressed at a liaison meeting last summer-included improving the timeline for homeowners and tightening up the designations to remove any insecurity in the real estate market. The committee was also charged with creating a Certificate of Exemption for homeowners who wish to have clarity on their property's status.

Planning Commissioner Craig Corman and Chair Howard Fisher red-lined nearly every page of the existing ordinance, often tightening up language for consistency but in other cases, unilaterally altering the ordinance. Despite input from Cultural Heritage Chair Maralee Beck and Furie, Corman and Fisher were the chief decision-makers in the overhaul and the final language for the proposed ordinance.

"Experts should be consulted," said Bosse, and Mirisch concurred. Mayor Bosse has determined that future meetings on the Cultural Heritage Ordinance will be in conjunction with experts from the Los Angeles Conservancy.

"We were very encouraged by the meeting last week," said Adrian Scott Fine, Director of Advocacy for the Los Angeles Conservancy. "We look forward to working closely with the liaison committee members to review the proposed ordinance amendments and serve as a resource. We want to help ensure Beverly Hills retains a strong and effective local preservation program and it's 'A+' reservation Report Card standing."

Using the existing changes as a base starting point, the two commissions, Planning and Cultural Heritage, have been tasked to find the areas where they agree and where they diverge.

"The CHC has worked tirelessly at delivering the program that makes sense for Beverly Hills," said Chair Beck. "We are grateful for the dynamic process of the liaison committee."

"We want to keep our 'A+' rating," said Mirisch. Mayor Bosse agreed wholeheartedly.

BOMB SCARE— Beverly Hills High was evacuated Wednesday for the second time this month after a telephonic bomb threat was received. The BHPD evacuated students to Roxbury Park and closed traffic on Moreno Dr. from Olympic Blvd. to Durant while officers searched the campus.

Beverly Hills High School Gets Second Bomb Threat In A Month; School Board Wants Answers

By Laura Coleman

For the second time this month, Beverly Hills High School students were forced to evacuate due to a bomb threat after an unidentified caller phoned the school at approximately 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, just two weeks after BHHS received its first telephonic bomb threat on Jan. 5.

The threat, which the Beverly Hills Police Department determined was non-existent at 5:30 p.m., is a perfect example of just how important it is to increase security at the schools, said Board President Brian Goldberg.

"We are working closely with BHPD to find those responsible but what we really need from the City is our school resource officer program reinstated," he said, referring to the program the City once paid for to staff guards at each of the school sites. "Our residents deserve the best protection available and I believe that is our SRO officers at each school site."

The school board has called a special session for this morning from 8-10 a.m. where in closed session members expect to get an update from BHPD on its current investigation into the Jan. 5 threat.

City Councilman Willie Brien has proposed creating a task force to address security at the school. Erstwhile, the school board is in the process of getting a proposal from the L.A. Sheriff's Department and vetting out 10 private security firms in an effort to place an armed guard at each of the five Beverly Hills public schools.

The Peninsula, The Beverly Hills Hotel, L'Ermitage Earn AAA Five-Diamond Rating

By Matt Lopez

Three local Beverly Hills hotels were among nine Southland hotels and one restaurant which received the coveted AAA five-diamond rating last week by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The three local hotels earning the prestigious honor are The Peninsula Beverly Hills, The Beverly Hills Hotel and L'Ermitage.

The one restaurant earning the five-diamond rating is The Belvedere, located inside The Peninsula Beverly Hills.

"We are always thrilled to retain the five-diamond rating, we never take it for granted," Peninsula Managing Director Offer Nissenbaum said. "It's really a testament to the hard work our staff delivers each day in elevating the guest experience."

The Peninsula, The Beverly Hills Hotel and L'Ermitage join The Ritz-Carlton in Marina Del Rey; the Four Seasons Hotel in Westlake Village; the St. Regis Resort in Monarch Beach; the Ritz-Carlton in Laguna Niguel; Montage Laguna Beach; and The Resort at Pelican Hill in Newport Beach on the list.

"This prestigious honor is a testament to all of our dedicated and caring team members who are passionate about this beloved institution and the guests they serve." Edward A. Mady, regional director of West Coast USA and general manager of The Beverly Hills Hotel and Bungalows said.

Sal Abaunza, general manager of L'Ermitage, echoed similar sentiments, giving credit to the hotel staff for the honor.

"It's a reflection of our staff, some of whom have been here for more than 20 years, to uphold that level of service," said Abaunza, whose L'Ermitage will begin a $40 million renovation next month. "Certainly in Beverly Hills, it's important to maintain that level of service."

CITY BIDS FAREWELL—The City of Beverly Hills threw a retirement party Saturday for City Manager Jeff Kolin at Roxbury Park. Kolin has served the City since Jan. 2010. ## Controversial Restaurant 'The Phoenix' Closed For Good In Beverly Hills

By Victoria Talbot

The Planning Commission called a special meeting to consider revocation of the Transitional Use License held by the Phoenix Restaurant at 14 N. La Cienega Blvd. However, revocation became a mute point.

The restaurant closed its doors last Sunday, and will move to a new location outside Beverly Hills.

The Phoenix has come before the Planning Commission for several violations. This time was to have been a hearing to revoke their license for good.

The restaurant has been the subject of many complaints for noise, loitering, public brawls and more, but the Planning Commission has continued to attempt to work with the owners.

During its short tenure in Beverly Hills, the restaurant has been the focus point of many police calls and investigations, and recently, following a spate of hearings and a lot of promises to be good, the restaurant failed to keep its bargain with the Planning Commission.

In fact, it was disclosed to The Courier there had been undercover investigations, which showed the restaurant was not adhering to the 10 p.m. closing times, and other violations.

The 14 N. La Cienega location is scheduled for demolition and the restaurant will move to a new, undisclosed location, according to a letter filed with the City on Jan. 14.

"As a result of the MTA's Project, and in order to facilitate and complete the relocation of the business from the property to a new site, the Phoenix Restaurant permanently closed the business on Jan. 19," said a letter from attorney Arnold K. Graham of Graham-Vaage LLP.

The letter states that the LA County Metropolitan Transit Authority is in the process of acquiring the property for the construction of the subway station (Purple Line Extension) at the corner of Wilshire Boulevard and La Cienega.

Bel-Air Construction Madness Continues With No End In Sight

By Matt Lopez

Another day, another round of unsafe, illegal, construction wackiness in Bel-Air.

Earlier this week, two large dumpsters lined Stone Canyon Road.

As seen in the photo provided in the article, two large trash dumpsters, sticking out halfway into the street. The dumpsters were parked on the side of the narrow road traveled by many residents throughout the day.

The dumpsters symbolize a growing concern among residents in some areas of Beverly Hills, and surrounding areas such as Bel-Air, about the lack of oversight for contractors doing work.

The continuing violations that have occurred in Bel-Air with overzealous construction and crews with no regard for the rules has led residents to

GEORGE CHRISTY

Samuel Goldwyn archives

Sam Goldwyn Jr., was remembered with a reception at the family estate in Beverly Hills

Southern California sunshine and spanking-blue skies shone on the Goldwyn estate in Beverly Hills, where friends and family met with love and respect, remembering Sam Goldwyn Jr.

A beautiful crowd – Sam attracted easy and comfortable friendships in his dream factory of filmmaking. None of the sharks that surface undercover in the treacherous waters of Tinsel Town.

We glimpsed Sam's wife Patricia; Ann and Jim Gianopoulos; Sam's partner Meyer Gottlieb with wife Patti Kaye; Sunset Tower hotelier Jeff Klein, with whom we reminisced about Sam's family roast beef and Yorkshire pudding dinners on Christmas Eve; Tom Rothman with wife Jessica; Motion Picture Television Foundation's Ken Scherer and Bob Beitcher; Nancy Livingston; John Manulis; Gloria Stern; Jonelle Allen, among the 200 guests. Including Sam Jr.'s long-time executive assistant Roslyn Yarbrough, who orchestrated the gathering, and former cook Fuji.

The reception was hosted by Sam's sons Francis, John, Tony, Peter, and daughters Cricket and Liz, everyone an achiever contributing to the arts currency of our country. Peter presides over The Samuel Goldwyn Company, with six films on the docket in 2015. A Year In Champagne, the documentary, will be released this spring. That morning, the family participated in a small private service honoring their father.

To know Sam, commandingly tall and handsome, was to know loyalty, kindness, a gentlemanly persona born to the royal purple of good manners, and favoring British tailoring, as did his dad. A literateur, Sam invited the award-winning biographer Scott Berg to research, write and publish the masterful biography of Sam Goldwyn Sr. A grand seigneur of international prominence Sam Sr. co-founded the M-G-M studio, producing films that became overnight legends and remain popular to this day. Sam Sr.'s was a long range commitment to quality – Wuthering Heights, The Best Years Of Our Lives, The Little Foxes, The Secret Life Of Walter Mitty, and more. He also drew global fame for his Goldwynisms ("Include me out!").

The apple, as they say, doesn't fall very far from the tree, and Sam Jr.'s filmography reflects that genetic desire for quality. He cast Julia Roberts in Mystic Pizza, giving her that big break for stardom, producing films by Ang Lee, Anthony Minghella, Kenneth Branagh, etc.

One morning some years ago, we were walking in our Brentwood neighborhood, where O.J. Simpson was retrieving his emptied trash cans. He called out. "Hey, man, what's going on?"

Nothing much was our reply.

"Any premieres?" No ... our birthday.

"Why weren't we invited?"

"Only eight people at a tiny Greek café ... not your style ... no pork chops." (His wife Nicole had told us that it wasn't uncommon for her husband to eat 14 pork chops at one sitting!)

O.J. claimed they had nothing to do that night, and that Nicole would confirm. She did. They came.

Sam and his wife Peggy were rabid football fans. We seated them on either side of O.J. Conversation became so hot it smoked. Next day, Sam called with huge thanks. He mentioned he's met movie stars and politicians by the dozens all his life, but nothing gave him greater satisfaction than talking football with The Juice.

A quote we remember from Sam on that birthday night at the Greek café. When we asked Sam what he learned from the movie business.

He laughed: "Patience."

THE KUN HOUSE BY RICHARD NEUTRA, 1936

Fabulous Little Early Neutra "Kun House" Offered At $3.5 Million

By Victoria Talbot

Only days after the Beverly Hills Cultural Heritage Commission recommended the Kronish residence for landmark status, Aaroe Estates has announced it will be representing a meticulously restored Richard Neutra property in the Hollywood Hills' Nichols Canyon.

The 3-bedroom, 2-bath residence was one that Neutra called his "favorite" of the pre-war period. Neutra designed and built the home for the Los Angeles Examiner printer, Joseph Kun in 1936.

The residence reflects the "architectural, technological and spatial vision that has made Neutra an icon of the Modernist movement for some 75 years," said listing agent Aaron Kirman, president of Aaroe Estates.

The home features Neutra's signature wrap-around decks on all three stories and uninterrupted views of the City.

A second floor includes a living room, dining area and kitchen, and at the bottom are the private, two bedroom suites and an office/bedroom/bath and private entrance. A full exotic landscaped path leads to an enclosed meditation area.

The Kun residence is a designated cultural heritage monument in the city of Los Angeles. Approximately 1,732-square feet, with three and a half stories, the home boasts sweeping views and strong southern lighting throughout.

Gerald Casale, singer and bass guitar for Devo, restored it to its original state in painstaking detail with preservationist James Rega. He bought the home from Kirman in 2007 and took more than seven years to accomplish his goal. Using archives from UCLA he was faithful to every detail. All post-30s' material was removed and replaced with original fixtures or fabricated period fixtures, remaining faithful to his goal.

Kirman has represented noted estates such as the Frank Lloyd Wright Ennis House, Neutra's Kauffman residence and Paul Williams' Lions Gate.

HEALTH & WELLNESS

For 9th Straight Year, Providence St. John's Health Center Honored For Clinical Excellence

Providence St. John's Health Center announced Tuesday that it has received Healthgrades' Distinguished Hospital Award for Clinical Excellence, for the ninth consecutive year.

Healthgrades, a leading consumer ratings company, awards the distinction to hospitals that rank among the top 5 percent of more than 4,500 hospitals evaluated nationwide for outstanding clinical performance on at least 21 of 32 of the most common diagnoses and procedures.

For the second year in a row, Providence Health & Services, Southern California, is the only health care system in California to have all its eligible hospitals receive this national recognition.

From 2011 through 2013, Healthgrades Distinguished Hospitals for Clinical Excellence, as a group, had a 27.7 percent lower risk adjusted mortality rate across 19 procedures and conditions where in-hospital mortality was the clinical outcome, compared to all other hospitals.

"We are fortunate to have physicians, nurses and other caregivers who have risen to the challenge of continuously providing the quality, compassionate and innovative care that is our tradition," said Karl Carrier, interim chief executive, Providence Health & Services, Southern California.

New Research Shows Children of Melanoma Survivors Need Better Protection from Sun's Rays

In a new study, UCLA researchers have discovered that children of melanoma survivors are not following sun-protection recommendations. This is concerning as sunburns are a major risk factor for melanoma, and children of survivors are at increased risk for developing the disease as adults.

In the observational study, Dr. Beth Glenn, UCLA Jonsson Comprehensive Cancer Center (JCCC) member and associate director of the JCCC Healthy and At-Risk Populations Research Program, and team asked parents about their attitudes towards melanoma prevention, how at risk for melanoma they believed their child to be, and their current use of sun protection strategies for their child. They found that many parents relied on sunscreen to protect their child against sun exposure, and fewer parents reported that their child wore a hat or sunglasses or attempted to seek shade when exposed to the sun.

Additionally, Glenn said, 43-percent of parents surveyed reported that their child experienced a sunburn in the past year.

UCLA researchers used the California Cancer Registry (which tracks all cases of cancer across the state) to identify and survey 300 melanoma survivors with children ages 17 and younger over a three-year period. The study targeted both Latino melanoma survivors and non-Latino white melanoma survivors.

901 STRADA VECCHIA

L.A. revoked several construction permits and levied a Stop Work Order on the property.

Walton Laurie's case actually doesn't involve the construction or natural grade of the project, which have been the main contentions the project has had with residents and the city of L.A.

Laurie is a neighbor on Strada Vecchia and her case centers around a large retaining wall, nearly 200 feet long and anywhere from 8-to-18 feet high in different areas.

According to the summary judgement, LW Partnership contends the home's designer Mohamed Hadid's company "with full knowledge of the boundary line between the parties' properties, nevertheless constructed a wall that stands at least 100 feet on the neighboring family's property without the family's consent. In the process, his company cut the roots to the family's cherished eucalyptus tree, causing it severe damage and putting it at risk of falling over."

The filing asks that the portions of the wall that encroach on the property be removed, and $90,000 in damages be paid for harm to the Eucalyptus tree.

A summary judgement is a motion to the court from a plaintiff that a certain set of facts are undisputed, and as such, a judgement can be entered on their behalf. The defense must provide the court disputed facts that fly in the face of the plaintiff's claims.

Bruce Rudman, an attorney for Hadid, said that it's his understanding that at one time three separate properties on Strada Vecchia, including Laurie's and 901, were one giant parcel before they were split some 80-90 years ago into three separate parcels with an old shotcrete wall separating them and holding up the hillside.

Rudman says the current wall is over the exact footprint of the old wall, and that building the wall was a requirement by the city of L.A. when 901's new owners purchased the project.

"We have an arborist who says the tree is thriving, and at one point in time was suffering from the drought," Rudman said. "This isn't about money. This is about principle. The wall serves the land much better than little piece of land they are complaining about."

CHLA, Clippers 'Day of Giving' Raises More Than $370,000 For Helping Hands Fund

The Los Angeles Clippers and Children's Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA) has announced the "Day of Giving" program has raised more than $370,000 for CHLA's Helping Hands Fund.

"I want to thank all of our fans and corporate partners who contributed to our 'Day of Giving' program," Clippers' President of Business Operations Gillian Zucker said. "The day was an incredible success because of the generosity and commitment of all of our fans and partners. We appreciate everyone's support and look forward to continuing our partnership with Children's Hospital Los Angeles."

The Day of Giving program, which concluded with a telethon on Dec. 29, included donations from team corporate sponsors Kia Motors America, State Farm, Jerome's Furniture and Barry's Tickets, all of whom matched the team's donation of $25,000.

"A special thank you on behalf of the kids and families of Children's Hospital Los Angeles," said DeAnn S. Marshall, MHA, CHLA senior VP chief development & marketing officer. "We wish to express our gratitude to the L.A. Clippers for an incredible partnership. The money raised goes to support critical, lifesaving care for every child treated, regardless of a family's ability to pay."

The Clippers will continue their partnership with CHLA with the CHLA 3-Point Play program.

For every three-point shot the Clippers make this season, the team will donate $50 to CHLA. Since the start of the season, the Clippers have made 399 three-pointers, totaling $19,950 in donations to CHLA. The 3-Point Play program will continue through the end of the 2014-15 regular season.

Palm Springs International Film Fest 'Mini Fest' Brings Out Big Names, Top Directors

For the past several years, a mini-gala of sorts with access tightly controlled is held at The Parker Hotel away from the downtown, more public venues of the Palm Springs International Film Festival.

Three things make this "mini" event notable. First, is the quality of the honorees. Second, event's title sponsors, Mercedes-Benz and Variety; and third, is the fact that Hollywood has the stamina to party as evidenced by the fact the mini gala is held at 11 a.m.

on the Sunday morning, after a long and spirits-filled After Party following the festival's award gala the night before.

FRANCES ALLEN'S
DESERT ROUNDUP

Steve Carell received the Creative Impact in Acting Award in recognition for his work, ranging from his comedic performances to his dramatic performance in Foxcatcher.

Robert Marshall was honored with the Creative Impact in Directing Award, acknowledging his career as a theater and film director, and specifically for his work in translating the Sondheim musical Into The Woods onto the big screen.

Chris Rock

A new category this year, a Creative Impact Award in Comedy, was presented to Emmy-winning comedian Chris Rock, for writing, directing and starring in the film Top Five.

Previous recipients of these awards have included Jonah Hill, David O. Russell and Philip Seymour Hoffman.

The Sunday Awards Brunch is also known for its "10

Steve Carell

Directors to Watch" series. Now one of the hottest tickets at the festival, the brunch has become the place to rub shoulders with the hottest emerging as well as industry and media power players. This year's list of "10 Directors to Watch" include seven who were in attendance: Ronit and Shmomi Elbabetz (Israel), Damian Szifron (Argentina), Ruben Ostend (Sweden), and Americans Justin Benson, Aaron Moorhead and Ava DuVernay.

Next year's festival dates will be Jan. 1-11, 2016, with the gala on Jan. 2.

It's been more than three decades since Robin Williams, playing the role of a Russian musician in Moscow On The Hudson, defected to the U.S. in New York's bastion of haute couture: Bloomingdale's.

Mel Haber

It's not easy to reference fashion and Russia in the same sentence, but that may change as the SafeHouse of the Desert holds its inaugural Fashion Show Luncheon Jan 27, at Mel Haber's Ingleside Inn.

The three-course luncheon in Melvyn's Restaurant will feature free champagne, live entertainment and the designs of Russian designers Fedor and Oksana. Fedor, a native of the Ukraine, studied at Kiev's prestigious school of design, while Oksana, who was born and raised in Russia studied acting and music, making her the perfect designer of the elaborate costumes worn by the ladies of The Palm Springs Follies.

SafeHouse's goal is the protection and well being of kids in crisis, providing emergency shelter and a haven for more than 800 children annually. Information: 760-567-9421.

YMF 60th Anniversary Gala, Concert Honors Glenn Dicterow, Malcolm McNab, Feb. 2 At The Wallis

The Young Musicians Foundation (YMF) will celebrate the success of its young musicians and programs at its 60th Anniversary Gala, Monday, Feb. 2.

The event will feature a 5:30 p.m. dinner and a 7:45 p.m. concert at the Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts.

YMF alumni Glenn Dicterow, violinist and former concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic, and trumpeter Malcolm McNab will receive the Living the Legacy and Magic Baton awards, respectively.

One person looking forward to the concert is Jeff Hyland, president of Hilton & Hyland.

His father, Dick Irving Hyland, was a board member of the professional training organization, with its Debut Orchestra, 50 years ago.

Hyland remembers concerts at Royce Hall and "all over L.A. In different venues," he said. "It was exciting to see kids

my own age playing this music."

Hyland's wife Lori has been a board member for eight years, serving as treasurer and secretary. He's been a fundraiser and active supporter.

"This is a fabulous organization; and I get such a great feeling seeing these kids play," Hyland said.

He especially likes a program that puts instruments into the hands of students who can't afford them.

"A lot of kids are starving for this availability," Hyland said. "Music is blind and has a way of bonding people. I like watching these kids from inner-city schools get together and practice like they're best friends.

"This is just one program designed to bring out talent in young people," Hyland says.

YMF's Music Director and current Conductor-in-Residence Roger Kalia will lead the Debut Orchestra, with 65 current and alumni members. Special guest Sam Kinsey, the winner of the 2014 Debut Concerto Competition, will perform Ravel's Piano Concerto For The Left Hand.

The evening will also include a documentary featuring 60 individuals who have carried forth YMF's mission of "unifying communities through exceptional classical music experiences for youth, offering high-caliber music instruction in a supportive environment."

A limited number of concert-only tickets are now on sale for $150. For more information and online reservations, visit www.YMF.org/gala.

Neil Sedaka Bringing Classics, New Tunes To Saban Concert

Singer, songwriter, pianist and more, Neil Sedaka will bring his hits and some new songs to his 9 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 7 concert at the Saban Theatre, 8440 Wilshire Blvd.

Sedaka's new album The Real Neil, his first in the "unplugged" format (just piano and voice) features new compositions and new accompaniments for classics like Breaking Up Is Hard To Do and Laughter In The Rain.

He's particularly proud of the album's Beginning To Breathe Again, a song about someone making a major change in their life, "that's gotten as much of a response as some of my biggest hits," Sedaka said. You is destined to become a wedding class. "if it make me cry, I know other people will cry too."

Sedaka is looking forward to a return to the Saban after 10 years; and he's bringing a group that's been with him for more than 35 years including Bassist

Neil Sedaka

Jim Fielder, an original member of Blood, Sweat and Tears.

Known for his chart toppers like Calendar Girl, Stupid Cupid, Where The Boys Are,

and countless more, Sedaka will spend part of the show demonstrating his songwriting technique.

"I write like a designer combining different fabrics," Sedaka said. "And I'm inspired by different voices, like Diana Ross, Al Green and The Beach Boys for Love Will Keep Us Together (a hit for the Captain and Tennille).

New Betty Ford Outpatient Clinic To Open in West Los Angeles

By Victoria Talbot

The Betty Ford Center will soon open an outpatient addiction treatment center in West Los Angeles with a ribbon-cutting ceremony with Los Angeles Councilman Paul Koretz and actor Lou Gossett, Jr. scheduled to appear.

Proved to be the "gold standard" in the treatment for addiction, the outpatient facility will combine the efficiency of outpatient services with the added convenience of proximity for Los Angeles' Westside.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony is Wednesday, Jan. 29 at 2 p.m. to be followed by a tour of the new facility, located at 10700 Santa Monica Blvd.

Betty Ford Center will continue to offer world-class residential treatment for patients who need the highest level of care," said Jim Steinhagan, administrator of the Betty Ford Center. "But there is a huge demand for additional treatment options. This new site means we will be able to provide our high quality care near more people's homes, with convenient scheduling and community resources."

Changes to the health care laws have encouraged outpatient treatment options for addiction, said Mark Mishek, president/CEO of the Hazelden Betty Ford Foundation, the parent organization for Betty Ford Center. The Hazelden Betty Ford Foundation has been providing hope and recovery for those affected by the disease of addiction since 1949, including the Betty Ford Center founded in 1982. It offers prevention and recovery in 16 locations across the country, as well as the largest recovery publishing house in the country, a fully-accredited graduate school of addiction studies, and advocacy to promote policies to enhance treatment and recovery.

While LAMOTH is honoring the two holocaust survivors locally, nearly 300 survivors of Auschwitz-Birkenau on Tuesday will return to the German deathcamp in Poland to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the camp's liberation in 2015. Dignitaries from across the political spectrum, as well as influential Hollywood figures, are expected to attend.

"Auschwitz, the Nazi German concentration and extermination camp, is a symbol of the Holocaust, and a witness to the horrible atrocities of the World War II," said Jacek Kastelaniec, director general of the Auschwitz-Birkenau Foundation. "It is also a one-of-a-kind educational facility where young people may learn about the terrible outcomes of anti-Semitism, racism and hatred."

The foundation has raised approximately $140 million in its global campaign to preserve the memorial site and complete a perpetual endowment for the preservation of all authentic remains, including mountains of shoes, suitcases, eyeglasses and other personal items stolen by the Nazis from the victims of Auschwitz-Birkenau on their arrival there, buildings, ruins, artifacts, documents and artworks at the Auschwitz Memorial.

The New Harold Richards Memorial Scoreboard in the Swim Gym at BHHS.

BHEF Announces Dedication Of Harold Richards Memorial Scoreboard At BHHS

By Matt Lopez

The Beverly Hills school community, along with the BHEF, came together last week during halftime of a Beverly Hills High boys basketball game to help announce the newest addition to the Swim Gym.

The beautiful new scoreboard was dedicated by the Karen Richards and David Sachs family in memory of Harold Richards, a father of two BHHS graduates and grandfather of another.

"Harold was a huge sports fan and a great thinker devoted to the idea of the scholar-athlete," said Karen Richards Sachs. "He understood that the lessons learned from sports are not just left on the field or the court."

Sachs said the gift was inspired by BHHS boys basketball coach Jarvis Turner, a graduate of USC who Richards

Sachs said "teaches discipline and teamwork and demands excellence from his students."

In addition to that new scoreboard, the Beverly Hills High Athletic Alumni Association underwrote the cost of a companion scoreboard that is named in honor of the Garland Family, who had previously purchased a scoreboard for the Swim Gym.

Along with the new scoreboards, local realtor Michael J. Libow, a BHHS alum, contributed a substantial lead gift to purchase a new state-of-the-art audio system to interface with the new scoreboards.

Beverly Hills High Boys Basketball Team Tops Diamond Ranch In MLK Shootout, Has Won 10 of Last 11

By Matt Lopez

The Beverly Hills High boys basketball team continued its impressive roll over the last week, running its current winning streak to four games and racked up its 10th win in its last 11 games.

Most recently in the MLK Shootout at Price High on Jan. 19, the Normans (13-5, 2-0 in Ocean League play) topped Diamond Ranch 63-52 behind Jalen Sands' 17 rebounds.

Two days earlier on Jan. 17, BHHS defeated Morse behind Chance Comanche's 17 points and 14 rebounds. Ryan Manoocheri added 16 points for the Normans in the victory.

On Jan. 16, BHHS won an Ocean League game over Hawthorne in a 90-62 rout, thanks to a legendary performance from Manoocheri, who sank 11-of-17 3-pointers en route to a 36-point effort.

Manoocheri was one of only two players to score in double figures – the other was Comanche, who added 18 points.

BHHS was set to host Lawndale this week before a telephonic bomb threat was called in and evacuated the school. The game was rescheduled for Monday.

CHAMPIONS – Local Dodgertown West defeated the Arizona Jays 8 to 2 in the finals of the Men's Senior Baseball League Regional Desert Classic tournament in Palm Springs. Pictured are teammates and former Beverly Hills Jr. Baseball coaches (from left) Marc Axelrod and Vic Reskin.

GIRLS SOCCER – Bianca Castro (No. 15 in white) attacks the ball alongside an El Segundo player last week in an 0-1 loss to the Eagles. The team lost 1-0 to El Segundo on Jan. 14 and 3-0 to Hawthorne on Jan. 16.

EDELWEISS

piece of candy that is produced, it is clear why the little store continues to thrive.

Beaming from behind the counter is Madlen Zahir, owner. She is another reason, carrying on a rich tradition, which has been inherited and passed forward through five owners, beginning with the original owner, Grace Young.

The store opened in 1942 as Grace Young's Candy Round Up. Young owned the shop for 31 years. She sold her establishment to Herman Smith. In the 2-3 years he owned the shop, the Swiss national added Swiss chocolate to the fare. He changed the name to Edelweisse.

Shirley and Sam Rosen faithfully carried forth the shop's traditions until it was bought by Shirley Jones and Marty Ingels in 1996.

Madlen and Steve Zahir have been proprietors since 2000, fiercely guarding the same original recipes that generations of Beverly Hills residents, celebrities and Hollywood royalty demand from their chocolate. "I keep the recipe in the safe," she says, smiling.

The tiny store is filled with beautiful Valentine's Day Chocolate. Each preparation is created in the shop, where chocolate artisans make fresh, fragrant confections every day.

One box holds two large round discs stamped as "aspirin," perhaps alluding to the healing power of chocolate for life's little bumps and mishaps. Another holds a magnum of champagne – made from chocolate. Perhaps you would like a basket of chocolate? This one is made from chocolate!

The unique history of this wonderful little shop wends through the Golden Days of Hollywood when Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz resided in Beverly Hills.

The famous episode when Lucy goes to work at a chocolate factory was filmed right in the shop with equipment that is still being used today.

"Lucille Ball would enter through the back of the store, getting the great idea of showing the producer the candy-making," said Madlen. In the episode she tries unsuccessfully to keep up with the chocolates streaming past her on a conveyor belt.

Edelweiss Chocolates have been a tradition in Hollywood since the days when Katharine Hepburn wrote in her autobiography Me about her love of the store's Dark Chocolate Turtles. Frank Sinatra was fond of the Maple Creams, and the store was a favorite of Nancy Reagan and Lauren Bacall.

Still today, the Zahir's carry on a tradition of house accounts for some of the world's most famous celebrities. "Jeffrey Katzenberg, he's my favorite," said Madlen. Many of those accounts have been passed down through generations.

The store makes 85 different confections. Friday and Saturday are 'Fruit Days,' when the shop turns out a parade of chocolate strawberries, oranges, grape, banana, caramel apples and cherry-chocolate baskets.

Oprah is a fan. Every Valentine's Day the megastar orders the largest heart-shaped box for her cast and crew, 8-10 pounds of chocolates. Elton John is also a fan, said Madlen.

Not only does the store offer delicious hand-made chocolate and confections, but Madlen invites her customers in to the candy kitchen to see the beauty of chocolates being made the old-fashioned way.

Passing her appreciation of the fine art of chocolate to future generations, the store offers birthday parties where kids can fill some of the hundreds of molds with their favorite chocolate and create their own chocolate treats. Through lessons and tours, the art and appreciation of the fine chocolatier will endure.

The store, by popular demand, has expanded to include a small shop at the Brentwood Country Mart, where the legacy continues.

Edelweisse will soon be rushing to fill those Valentine's Day orders. Say something very special with hand-made dark chocolate pretzels, or any of the seven kinds of homemade marshmallow candies that have been customer's favorites for 70+ years. Boxes are as big as 10 pounds or, one small box carefully packed with five pieces of beautiful confections, was made itself entirely of chocolate.

Custom mix a box of any of the 85 delicious and remarkably crafted delights that sit like jewels in the old-fashioned glass case.

Not shy at all about her pride of ownership, Madlen's genuine warmth and personality are equally important to the shop's success. But then, it is hard to imagine the hostess of a chocolate confectionary to be anything but smiling.

BEL-AIR

write repeated e-mails to L.A. Mayor Eric Garcetti, L.A. Councilman Paul Koretz and Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety General Manager Raymond Chan.

So far, local homeowners, including members of the Bel-Air Homeowners Alliance, have not been pleased by the lack of response.

One local resident and Bel-Air Homeowners Alliance member said the dangerous developer habits would continue until there is "competent management of the existing projects" from the city of Los Angeles.

The dumpsters are just the latest in a list of problems Bel-

Air residents have encountered with local construction. Most recently, last Thursday, large construction trucks traveled along and illegally parked along Bel-Air's Perugia Way as early as 6 a.m.

Large hauling trucks and diggers, as well as a tractor carrying rebar and pavers were all seen traveling along the tiny street in the wee hours of the morning.

The most harrowing incident, however, was one woman who says she was almost hit by a construction truck at the intersection of Perugia Way and Bellagio.

Stopped at a stop sign heading east, a construction truck came around the corner and nearly side-swapped her. It was reported that a worker who was supposed to be controlling traffic just shrugged his shoulders at the resident.

In another area of Bel-Air, on Somma Way, residents this week reported seeing at least two large dump trucks traveling up and down the narrow street throughout the day at the same time with no traffic control in sight.

"The morning construction noise and traffic congestion is so loud and intense, which explains why residents on this narrow street are at wits end," said Fred Rosen, president/CEO of the Bel-Air Homeowners Alliance.

CORMANS

"She was amazing, just amazing. I can see her to this day," Gene said. "Ingrid was so determined to make this shot."

Bergman died before she was able to receive her own 1982 Emmy as well as a Golden Globe for her performance in Gene's film.

Gene transitioned from being a powerhouse Hollywood agent who represented stars like Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland, Joan Crawford, Harry Belafonte, and Allan Dwan to producing films shortly after he married Nan in 1955. Today, he has over 40 film and TV credits to his name.

"It was the beginning of the television revolution in this town," he recalled. At the time, Gene said most of the major stars had just been cut loose from their contracts and the studios vastly underestimated just how expensive it would be to renew contracts with some of Hollywood's biggest names.

"Studios didn't understand the business," he said. For example, once Clark Gable's contract was up, "Every studio was trying to buy him." At the time, MCA was the biggest agency in the world: "We had a chance to be more creative," he said. "With creativity came monetary success."

Gene credits himself with reviving Joan Crawford's career in 1954 with Johnny Guitar, because of his suggestion to remake the book with a female protagonist for the film.

"This gave her another eight or nine films," he said.

The 87-year old Beverly Hills resident, who has had two back surgeries in the past year, has lived here since 1941 when his family moved from Detroit. The story goes that his father was seeing a specialist at the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit who told him he needed a mild climate for asthma and by the time a California doctor debunked that prognosis, Gene was en route to graduate from Beverly Hills High School. (Class of 1944.)

After that, Gene went on to Stanford and then started making films with his brother, Roger (famed for producing some of the best B movies in town like Piranha and Sharktopus) before starting as an executive at MCA.

Gene ultimately found his muse in Nan, a former model to whom he today counts 59 years of marriage.

"She picked me up," Gene explained of the blonde bombshell he cast in some of his early films including Ski Party.

Nan grew up in the Great Depression in New York City, privileged to avoid the sting of poverty. Her grandfather, Sam Morris, was the head of foreign distribution for the newly formed Warner Bros. Her father, Edwin H. Morris, started Warner Bros. Music Company and later formed Edwin H. Morris Music Publishing Co., where he was involved in some of the biggest musicals on Broadway, including Chorus Line, Hello, Dolly! and Mame.

The family eventually moved to North Canon Drive in Beverly Hills.

"There was nothing across the street," she recalled of her childhood home.

After graduating from Hawthorne, Nan recalled taking the trolley to BHHS (Class of 1949) and hanging out with her friends at Dolores' Drive-In on Wilshire.

"Everyone from Beverly High used to go to Dolores," Nan said. "It was a big thing."

Later, after Nan graduated from UCLA, her father got her a job at MCA through his friendship with Lew Wasserman.

One night, poised to attend the premiere of A Star Is Born starring Judy Garland, she asked Gene to accompany her. Eight months later they were engaged.

As newlyweds, the two moved briefly to Bel-Air, before the great fire of 1961 consumed almost 500 homes, including theirs. They returned to Beverly Hills, purchasing a home that at the time, for $120,000, Gene said he viewed as over-priced. It's the home they still live in today.

At the time, there was a bridal path down Sunset Boulevard, instead of today's divider of trees and flowers.

"We used to ride horses," Nan recalled.

There, they raised two sons,

TV director Todd and Planning Commissioner/attorney Craig Corman, who like their mother graduated from Hawthorne and BHHS.

"Beverly Hills at that time was a small community of upwardly mobile families," Gene described. "A small wealthy conclave that paid attention to people who lived here."

Both Gene and Nan, who who have amassed an intriguing art collection and continue to be involved in prestigious museums including the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, served on the Beverly Hills Fine Arts Commission.

"It was so safe we never locked any doors," Nan recalled. "We never thought of things. It was just a great place."

"The kids had a bike and that was all they'd need," Gene added.

There was also the glitz that attired Beverly Hills as it became a nucleus for filmmakers. Gene, who eventually went on to serve as vice president of 20th Century Fox for four years, said a great level of important, successful people bought homes, with opulence spiraling up north of Sunset. And of course, Gene's Hollywood connections made for some very interesting nights.

To this day, Nan still vividly recalls the moment her husband's client, Harry Belafonte, brought her onstage at the Coconut Grove to sing to her—she was eight months pregnant at the time.

And even though the world has changed, the Cormans still feel strongly that Beverly Hills continues to emblemize family.

"I've grown up here," Nan said simply. "I love the City and everything about it."

Al Pacino, Charles Grodin, Greta Gerwig Shine In The Humbling

The Humbling opens with Al Pacino as aging actor Simon Axler leaving his dressing room and within a few minutes taking a swan dive off the stage during a Broadway production of As You Like It.

It seems that after many years Axler has become one with his many leading characters and is a bit confused as to which one he is...or, wants to be.

Soon, those old enough to remember, are reminiscing memories of the 1947 classic A Double Life that earned the iconic Ronald Colman an Oscar and was written by Garson Kanin and Ruth Gordon (of Harold And Maude fame).

Actually, we don't have to go that far back thanks to my choice as the best film of the year, Michael Keaton terrific Birdman. While there are glaring similarities between the two, thanks to great dialogue, direction and uniformly sensational acting, Birdman comes out on top.

However, that is not to diminish the combined efforts of Pacino's outstanding talent and excellent supporting cast headed by Greta Gerwig who, once again, proves to be one of the more interesting and highly talented actresses in Hollywood. Her performance as a multifarious young lesbian theatre professor with a longstanding crush on Axler, is perfect. Charles Grodin's performance as an agent, achingly reminds us that, lately, we do not see him often enough.

As black comedies go, The Humbling, taken from the masterful Philip Roth book, is funnier and a bit more complex than its 1947 famous predecessor.

Written by Buck Henry (The Graduate) and Michael Zebede, Barry Levinson's pin-point eclectic direction makes is a "must see" for art file devotees. Mainstream audiences will probably not be going to see The Humbling but rather action packed, noisy, bloody, sexually permissive movie fare. Pity.

This film is not Birdman but a heck of a lot better than the mediocrity being released this month and next.

Young Adults Need To Slow Down In Relationships, Tips For Dealing With Sleep Disruption

Q. Dear Dr. Fran: What are the best things to advise my 23-year-old son who is in his first year after college? Should he be preparing to buy his first home, start a retirement fund, establish credit, and get insurance plans?
Gladys T.

A. Dear Gladys: You can certainly suggest to your son that he meet with a financial adviser, perhaps one that you have worked with and trust.

I would also love for you to inject an important kernel of gold where the hole is in the relationship realm for young men and women in their first year of college. They need to focus on the value of slowing down and taking time to get to know the other person. It seems to me that people, especially teens and young adults, are moving so fast to connect that learning how to develop a relationship is non-existent until after college.

My junior- and senior-high school patients have introduced me to the concept of "hook ups." This is where a boy and girl teen who barely know each other get together to make-out which involves passionate kissing, petting, and the possibility of leading to oral sex and intercourse.

I am now informed by my university patients that college

DR. FRAN WALFISH
ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

dating is a dinosaur. Hook-ups have replaced dating. The way it works is that colleges have parties and boy and girl friends "hook up" at the party and sleep together without ever dating or developing a relationship based on healthy communication.

How is this going to affect America and our culture? We already have a divorce rate of 50-percent with troubled relationships and difficulty sustaining existing relationships.

Folks don't know how to find or initiate new relationships. Adults sleep together on the second or third date. There is tremendous value in slowing down and taking time to get to know the other person.

Q. Dear Dr. Fran: I am in the process of changing jobs and under extra pressure. I've noticed my sleep interrupted for the past couple of weeks. Any thoughts about helping me get back on track?
Kevin G.

A. Dear Kevin: Sleep disruption is rooted in Separation Anxiety. When we are stressed, going through major changes or life transitions the first place we see symptoms is in sleep disruption. Try "Dr. Fran's Top Sleep Tips."

- Always go to bed at the same time and set your alarm to wake up at the same time. This gets your body rhythms used to a regular routine.

- Create a routine that winds you down in the evening and sets the mood for sleep. After dinner, dim the lights turn on calming music, and take a soothing warm bath.

- Do light reading. No TV or computer before bed. These activities tend to rev up anxiety and excitatory threshold versus relax and calm you down.

- Drink milk, eat cheese, yogurt, or ice-cream before bed. Yes, there is truth to the old saying about hot milk! The ingredient tryptophan has a natural calming agent that actually relaxes you without medication.

FRENCH ANDERSON

Today, Anderson, 78, resides at the California Institution for Men, a state prison in Chino where he is eight years into a 14-year sentence for allegedly molesting a young girl from the time she was 10 to 14.

Anderson has repeatedly affirmed his innocence to The Courier and maintains that he never once touched the young girl inappropriately.

"When people want to believe something and they're convinced it's true and there are moral issues involved, people are willing to invent evidence," said Pulitzer prize winning author Jared Diamond, who has known Anderson since the two were freshmen at Harvard.

Diamond is among hundreds of prominent individuals including Nobel laureates, scientists, professors and longtime friends who maintain that Anderson is innocent.

Last month, Anderson filed a Writ of Habeas Corpus in U.S. District Court - marking his first federal attempt to receive a hearing that he believes will exonerate him. He contends that his habeas corpus attorney Doug Otto has uncovered evidence that documents the falseness of every piece of damaging evidence used against him during the jury trial to convict him, including documentation that the L.A. Sheriff's Department falsified evidence.

After his July 2006 conviction in L.A. County Superior Court, Anderson concluded that his second-in-command at his USC Gene Therapy Laboratories, Dr. Yi Zhao, engineered the molestation allegations in order to take control of the lab. Dr. Zhao is the mother of the then under-aged girl, Yusi He, that Anderson was convicted of molesting.

Did the jury make a mistake? Anderson is convinced of it.

Indeed, he contends that the reason his alleged victim never filed a civil suit after his criminal conviction was because the attorneys who had represented the family realized it was "a hoax."

"They could easily have won a lawsuit," Anderson said. "We had no defense. What defense would we have? I had been convicted."

By comparison, a $34 million civil verdict against O.J. Simpson finding him responsible for the deaths of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ron Goldman followed his notorious acquittal for their murder. Indeed, it was that very case that shone a public light on the fact that police are not immune from planting evidence in cases where they suspect guilt.

"Perhaps a person in the Sheriff's Department was convinced French was guilty," Diamond surmised, adding that even in the scientific community it is not unknown for researchers to falsify data.

In 2011, Tracer Technology, Inc. President Curtis Crow, a technology expert who has worked with agencies including the CIA, FBI and the DEA, concluded that the an audio recording of a conversation that took place between Anderson and Miss He on July 1, 2004 appeared to have been doctored.

The so-called "sting" operation where the L.A. Sheriff's Department wired Miss He with a concealed transmitter before she met Anderson at the South Pasadena Library is considered to be the most damning piece of evidence against Anderson. The recording has Anderson directly apologizing to Miss He after she asks him why he sexually molested her. Anderson contends he responded that it never happened; the only time he apologized, he said, was to say he was sorry for pushing her so hard academically.

Crow said he found four anomalies indicative of editing when he analyzed the recording using the Diamond Cut Forensic8 software program. Crow's declaration echoes the conclusion made by signal processing expert Pablo Valencia in 2008 when he used forensic software to analyze the recording and concluded that the Sheriff's Department had doctored the recording.

"I believe sincerely that the recording was taken to the police station, analyzed, edited and then entered into their computer with a false time and date," he said. "My feeling is that on this situation...French has been the victim of unethical behavior by the police."

To add insult to injury, Anderson contends that his trial attorney Barry Tarlow, to whom he said he paid $2.3 million, refused to investigate his client's assertion that the recording had been edited to clearly reflect guilt.

"Tarlow would absolutely not allow it and said that he would quit the case if I said there were any alterations," Anderson recalled. "His argument was police recordings couldn't be modified. For me to say it was modified would be taken by the jury as if I was lying."

Instead, the jury only heard a prominent, respected scientist apologize to a young girl for molesting her.

"We will have a major lawsuit against Barry Tarlow," Anderson vowed.

In addition, Anderson said he plans to file lawsuits against everybody who initially contributed to his conviction, including the L.A. County District Attorney's office, the L.A. County Sheriff's Department, and the San Marino Police. He also said he plans to file suit against Dr. Zhao.

If Anderson is exonerated, he said he hopes to return to USC as a professor emeritus.

"I want USC to bring me back with open arms ... as soon as I'm exonerated," he said.

The University promptly cut ties with Anderson when he was arrested, issuing a statement that it had suspended Anderson and was initiating dismissal proceedings to remove his tenure and faculty position.

"Dr. Anderson is not allowed to come on campus; contact USC faculty, students, or staff; or conduct any USC business whatsoever," USC wrote in its statement.

Anderson originally joined the USC faculty in 1992, after spending 27 years as a researcher at the National Institutes of Health where he was the molecular hematology branch chief. There, he acquired international prominence for becoming the first doctor to perform a gene-therapy procedure when in 1990 he cured a genetic disease in the immune system in 4-year-old Ashanti DeSilva, who is today alive and well.

As director of the USC Gene Therapy Laboratories, Anderson expanded his gene therapy research. Using an annual $4 million Novartis grant, in addition to an NIH grant, the lab focused on doing targeted gene therapy to be able to build into the vector.

However, when a pilot gene therapy trial in another state resulted in the death of a patient in 1999, companies got spooked and pulled back gene therapy funding, including Novartis.

Subsequently, Anderson said his friend and colleague, Robert Monks, stepped up and said he would provide research funding, with the caveat that he wanted his money to be used to fund molecular research, including radiation damage. Thus, Farmal LLC was conceived to sponsor the research project, with Monks' group subsequently investing $12 million into Anderson's program over the years.

On Mar. 13, 2003, still hurting from the dot.com bust, Monks pulled his funds when Dr. Zhao told the board that the main product they had been working on - an anti-radiation drug called IL-12 - did not work. It wasn't until later that Anderson learned that Dr. Zhao had falsified the results of a test involving mice, and that the drug did in fact show tremendous promise.

Days after Monks pulled his funding, Dr. Zhao became one of the co-founders of Neumedicines Inc., a biotech company established to continue work on IL-12, which she later left.

On July 3, 2003, Dr. Zhao filed a provisional patent for IL-12, listing her, Anderson and Tingchao Chen, a graduate student, as inventors. She filed the actual patent on July 6, 2004, just five days after the L.A. Sheriff's Department had wired her daughter for a sting meeting with Anderson.

Anderson contends that the meeting was delayed from June 30 until July 1 because Dr. Zhao needed key patent definitions from him before she filed the patent - an allegation that a June 30 email exchange that The Courier reviewed supports.

That email exchange came just a few days after Anderson said Dr. Zhao helped him draft a letter to the dean appointing her deputy director and suggesting a 30 percent salary increase, which he sent on June 26.

Noted information technology consultant Dan Haste said he has since uncovered that not only did Dr. Zhao file a patent in China within days after she falsified the results of one test, but in 2010 a Chinese journal listed her as the owner Qingdao Kanglital Pharmaceutical Company Limited, which had successfully tested IL-12 on monkeys.

"It has enormous military implications [which] I wasn't thinking about," Anderson said. "I was only thinking about cancer."

What IL-12 aims to do is to repair irradiated cells, tremendously helpful for cancer patients. One military application might include inoculating troops who use nuclear weapons in anticipation of a wind shift.

Around the time Dr. Zhao appears to have been shoring up her connections with the Chinese military, Anderson contends that she was orchestrating a strategic campaign against him using her daughter. Specifically, he said that emails he started receiving from Miss He in November 2003 were meant to entrap him.

In fact, several emails used as evidence against Anderson in the trial are ostensibly troubling.

One email sent by Anderson to Miss He on Nov. 25, 2003, which the prosecution claimed was a confession, suggests that Anderson might commit suicide if false accusations of sexual abuse became public. Another set of emails sent by Anderson to Miss He read like pleas from a desperate lover as he begs her to come over to his San Marino home, assuring her that his wife is not there.

Anderson steadfastly maintains that there was never any element of his relationship with Miss He that he considered inappropriate.

"The relationship between Yusi and me was always good," he said. "This kind of language sounds awful to adults, but it was the way we communicated."

Anderson's wife of 53 years, Kathy, who retired at 65 as Chief of Surgery at Children's Hospital Los Angeles just one week before her husband was arrested, described Miss He as a strange, sullen girl who would immediately retreat in her presence.

Anderson, who has mentored dozens of students, originally took on Miss He as a mentee at the request of Dr. Zhao. Anderson worked closely with her academically, as well as coaching her in karate to become a national champion. He often sparred with her as part of training and he increasingly became a fixture in her life, regularly picking the young girl up from school and driving her to soccer practice.

Following The Courier's publication of "Not Yet Home For Christmas: Anderson Asserts Innocence" on Dec. 26, 2014, several readers sent emails. One former soccer parent whose child was on the team with Miss He, described as her a "detached, morose girl who kept to herself much more than was common for goalkeepers ... All I can say is that the obvious relationship between French and Yusi was on the bizarre side." Likewise, those who had known Anderson professionally wrote to The Courier to express their surprise that he had ever been arrested because of his strong character.

Anderson maintains that if a litany of exculpatory evidence been allowed into the trial, the jurors would have made a very different decision.

In addition to the doctored sting recording, false allegations, emails that he allege were edited and an attorney who made egregious decisions, Anderson hopes a hearing will allow him to present other exculpatory avenues. This includes: Trial Judge Michael E. Pastor refusing to allow as evidence the results of a plethysmography test, which is used around the country to gauge pedophilic tendencies; a investigation report that falsely documents him owning a $21.8 million building, which the D.A. used to justify his headline-grabbing $6 million bail; a letter to the San Marino police he wrote just after his "sting" meeting with Miss He; and the limitations placed on his defense with respect to allowing former mentees the opportunity to testify.

"I want three things: my freedom, my reputation, and the return of my life savings," he said.

Whether or not Dr. Zhao preyed on any latent tendencies Anderson may have harbored and wielded her daughter like a weapon to foster an inappropriate relationship that needed only an allegation by a young girl to put him in jail, the fact remains that for the past decade, the world has been deprived of one of the most brilliant scientific minds. And soon, he may get his chance in court once again armed with an arsenal to prove his innocence.

Next week, The Courier will examine what Anderson's future may hold and the implications of the trial and his conviction.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL
BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding
at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien,
not on the property itself.
Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you
to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that
the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder
at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior
to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens
that may exist on this property by contacting
the county recorder's
office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same
lender may hold more than one mortgage or
deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROP-ERTY OWNER: The sale
date shown on this notice
of sale may be postponed
one or more times by the
mortgagee, beneficiary,
trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code.

The law requires that
information about trustee
sale postponements be made available to you
and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been

REQUEST FOR PREQUALIFICATION
OF BIDDERS AND PREQUALIFICATION
INSTRUCTIONS FOR:

POLICE FACILITY
OVERSIZED VEHICLE
STORAGE PROJECT –
RE-BID #3

Notice is hereby given that the City of Beverly Hills ("CITY") has determined that all bidders for
the construction of the Police Facility Oversized
Vehicle Storage
("Project") must be pre-qualified prior to submitting a bid on that Project. It is mandatory that all Contractors who intend to submit a bid,
fully complete the pre-
qualification questionnaire, provide all materials requested herein,
and be approved by the CITY to be on the final
qualified Bidders list.

No bid will be accepted
from a Contractor that has failed to comply with these requirements. If two or more business
entities submit a bid as
part of a Joint Venture,
or expect to submit a bid
as part of a Joint Venture, each entity
within the Joint Venture
must be separately
qualified to bid. The last date to submit a fully completed questionnaire is 5:00 PM
Thursday, January 29, 2015. Contractors are encouraged to submit
prequalification packages as soon as possible, so that they may be notified of omissions of
information to be reme-
died or of their prequalification status in advance of the prequali-
fication deadline for this Project.

Answers to questions
contained in the
attached questionnaire
are required. The CITY
will use these documents as the basis of rating Contractors with respect to whether each Contractor is qualified to bid on the Project, and reserves the right to
check other sources
available. The CITY's decision will be based
on objective evaluation
criteria.

The CITY reserves the

right to adjust, increase,
limit, suspend or rescind
the prequalification rating based on subsequently learned information. Contractors whose rating changes sufficiently to disqualify
them will be notified,
and given an opportunity for a hearing consistent with the hearing
procedures described below for appealing a prequalification rating.

While it is the intent of
the prequalification
questionnaire and documents required there-
with to assist the CITY
in determining bidder
responsibility prior to bid
and to aid the CITY in selecting the lowest
responsible bidder, neither the fact of prequalification, nor any pre-
qualification rating, will preclude the CITY from
a post-bid consideration
and determination of
whether a bidder has the
quality, fitness,
capacity and experience
to satisfactorily perform
the proposed work, and
has demonstrated the
requisite trustworthiness.

The prequalification
packages should be submitted under seal to
the Office of the City
Clerk, City of
Beverly Hills, 455
North Rexford Drive,
Room 290, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. The following should be clearly marked on the outside of the package
"CONFIDENTIAL PRE-QUALIFICATION
STATEMENT FOR THE
POLICE FACILITY
OVERSIZED VEHICLE
STORAGE PROJECT –
Re-Bid #3"

The prequalification
packages submitted by Contractors are not public records and are not open to public inspection. All information provided will be kept
confidential to the extent
permitted by law.
However, the contents
may be disclosed to
third parties for purpose
of verification, or investigation of substantial allegations, or in an appeal hearing. State law requires that the names of contractors
applying for prequalification status shall be public records subject to disclosure, and the first page of the questionnaire will be used for
that purpose.

Each questionnaire
must be signed under penalty of perjury in the manner designated at

the end of the form, by
an individual who has
the legal authority to bind the Contractor on whose behalf that person is signing. If any information provided by a Contractor becomes inaccurate, the Contractor must immediately notify the CITY
and provide updated
accurate information in writing, under penalty of perjury.

The CITY reserves the right to waive minor
irregularities and omissions in the information
contained in the pre-
qualification application
submitted, and to make
all final determinations.
The CITY may also
determine at any time
that the prequalification
process will be suspended for the Project
and the Project will be bid without prequalifica-
tion.

Contractors may submit
prequalification packages during regular working hours on any
day that the offices of
the CITY are open.
Contractors who submit
a complete prequalifica-
tion package will be notified of their qualification
status no later than ten business days after submission of the information.

The CITY may refuse to grant prequalification
where the requested
information and materials are not provided by
the due date indicated above. There is no
appeal from a refusal for
an incomplete or late
application, but re-application for a later project is permitted. Neither the closing time for submitting prequalification
packages for this Project will be changed
in order to accommodate supplementation of
incomplete submissions, or late submissions, unless requested
by the CITY in its sole discretion.

In addition to a contrac-
tor's failure to be pre-qualified pursuant to the scoring system set forth
in the prequalification
package, a contractor
may be found not pre-
qualified for either omission of or falsification of,
any requested information.

Where a timely and completed application
results in a rating below
that necessary to pre-

qualify, an appeal can
be made by the unsuccessful Contractor. An appeal is begun by the Contractor delivering notice to the CITY of its appeal of the decision
with respect to its pre-
qualification rating, no
later than two business
days following notification that it is not pre-qualified. The notice of appeal shall include an address where the Contractor wishes to receive notice of the appeal hearing. Without a timely appeal, the Contractor waives any
and all rights to challenge the decision of the CITY, whether by
administrative process,
judicial process or any other legal process or proceeding.

If the Contractor gives
the required notice of appeal, a hearing shall
be conducted no earlier
than five business days
after the CITY's receipt
of the notice of appeal
and not later than five
business days prior to the date of the Notice
Inviting Bids for this Project. Prior to the hearing, the Contractor
shall, in writing, be advised of the basis for the City's pre-qualification determination.

The hearing shall be conducted by a panel
consisting of three members of the Department of Public Works & Transportation
senior management
staff (the "Appeals Panel"). The Appeals
Panel shall consider any evidence presented by the Contractor, whether or not the evidence is presented in compliance
with formal rules of evidence. The Contractor
will be given the opportunity to present evidence, information and
arguments as to why the Contractor believes it should be pre-qualified.
Within one day after the hearing, the Appeals Panel
will render a written
determination as to whether the Contractor
is pre-qualified. It is the intention of the CITY
that the date for the submission and opening of
bids will not be delayed
or postponed to allow for completion of an appeal
process.

A bidder or potential bidder who has a procedural question may call Julio Guerrero at telephone number 310-285-2823.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Three members of the Beverly Hills City Council have become so stubborn that they now are going to dictate what is adequate security for our families and in this case...BH students.

This is a rich city or, if that is not true, gives the appearance of such as e.g. $250,000.00 statues on which children can play, a minimum of three bicycle police to escort our mayor on her City walk, new plans to refurbish Santa Monica Boulevard, even though most of the street doesn't need it. Oh yes, let's not forget massive monetary increases to our employees which is fine as long as the City finds money for security at our schools to protect the students.

I am surprised that Dr. Julian Gold did not vote to give money to the Beverly Hills Unified School District. In fact, I thought that Mayor Lili Bosse would have voted for anything that will help keep our children safe. Maybe having no opposition to their seats on the City Council leads them to ignore us.

I am not surprised that Dr. Willie Brien who not only opposes giving money to the Board of Education also wants to have a metro under our BHHS regardless of what we all want. Furthermore, he has no right to offend any member of the of the Board of Education.

We all know that the Beverly Hills Police Department is short on officers. That should be the council's priority, followed by authorizing all money needed for school security. Having had now two bomb threats in our high school, I question.... has the FBI been notified?

Kudos to Nancy Krasne and John Mirisch.

Pablo Nankin, MD

As a resident, a former Beverly Hills student, and a parent of three children in the Beverly Hills Unified School District, I have always considered the City as my home. I can now say that I am incredibly disappointed with and ashamed of our City.

We are fortunate to live and raise our kids in one of the most wealthy and beautiful cities in the world. Moreover, we pay exorbitant taxes in order to reside in such an area. However, do we not have the resources to protect our children who go to school in this City? What about the millions in surplus? I find it beyond incredulous that we have gone weeks or even months now without security in the schools! We should not go one single day without protecting our children!

Shootings and school violence are a real concern as is terrorism throughout the world. It is ignorant, not to mention very risky, to believe the City of Beverly Hills is invincible. Should we wait until one of our students is shot or endure a true bombing at school to take action?! We must have security at all of our schools today....not wait without while negotiations are underway. The City can and must afford to cover these services even during the process of negotiations.

I am flabbergasted to think Beverly Hills has allowed our children to remain exposed to potential danger while they decide on this matter. This is no joke! Even after two consecutive bomb threats at BHHS, the City still has not implemented immediate security measures. What are you waiting to happen for you to trigger action? Are you waiting for an actual shooting or bombing to help you decide? There must be no delay in this matter. This must supersede all other issues.

If our children are hurt and their lives at stake.....what will become of this City that we all call home?! Apologies or remedies after the fact will not save lives. We need to protect our children now! If we do not help keep our children safe, then our efforts to improve their education and guide them toward successful futures will have been in vain...none of this will matter in the end if our children are left unprotected.

Billy Crystal's comments last Sunday to the Television Critics Association about his groundbreaking role on Soap, his former groundbreaking TV series are not unfair and definitely not homophobic.

Yes, he could have been more concise, but chastising him because of his comments are totally and uniformly biased. He is right on with his comments regarding the plethora of graphic sex and the excessive use of expletives on TV and in the movies. It's about time someone with his notoriety and sense of decency spoke up about the downward path our "creative" writers, producers and directors have chosen to take us. Hopefully, his stance will wake up those lethargic stars who agree with the basic meaning of his concern and speak up in his defense and carry the message to the next plateau. God Bless, Billy Crystal for his candor and comments. It's about time!

In the weeks since the death of Francesca Hilton, I have been keeping up on all of the news coverage. My heart goes out to her mother, Zsa Zsa Gabor. I read stories about how she is so ill that she cannot speak and does not know what is going on around her, and I am filled with so much sadness.

I have always admired Zsa Zsa and think she is a wonderful person. I have been rereading her memoir, One Lifetime Is Not Enough, and it is still just as refreshing and delightful as it was when it was published. Her words overflow with so much energy, candor, and passion. No one should have to endure what she is going through now.

KEEP THE STATE OF THE UNION STRONG!!

ASTROLOGY
By Holiday MATHIS

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Jan. 23). You love your work and look forward to the interactions of each relationship. This makes for a motivated, happy, optimal state of being. There's a financial bonus in February. March comes with travel opportunities. May brings a switch of the career direction, and you'll be ready for it. Give your heart in July. Aries and Cancer adore you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Segal's law suggests that a man with one watch knows what time it is and that a man with two watches is never sure. This is a time to limit your knowledge sources.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20). People will say the wrong thing from time to time. Be patient with someone who is socially awkward. And if that someone happens to be you, then afford yourself a measure of grace.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19). Your past will inform your future, if you care to look at it very carefully. This day is a fast rush, so that kind of review may seem impossible, but knowing you, you'll find the time for a moment of reflection.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20). The more you give the more you want to –it feels so good. Generosity makes a difference for those who need it, and make an impression on those who could stand to give more.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You'll meet someone who knows about the subject you're extremely interested in of late. If your questions are met with resistance, assure your subject your interest is impersonal.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Do you dare head out on a quest? The distances you travel may not be physical miles, but you will arrive at a new place anyhow. You will be a friend to many fellow travelers, though some relationships will emerge as special.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Honor tradition. A simple act of sitting down to a meal with loved ones will be grounding. Regular things about life get you grounded for what promises to be an action-packed weekend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your nearest will appreciate what you do, because they see how much effort it takes, though they don't understand the intricacy of it. Next in line are those with similar skills. They really get it. Keep them close now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You'll compare yourself, to the extent that it helps you maintain a competitive edge. Also, you'll be funny when it counts, and that's part of your appeal to your many followers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You have so much work to do and no clue how you're going to accomplish it all. Other people—that's the answer. And when you're giving instructions, you'll be simultaneously assertive and laid-back. Amazing!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). They like the results, yet they still may have a criticism. That is unacceptable. Let your people know that they can't have the effort without the person who is doing the work. Don't let them disrespect you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). There's a physical chasm to be crossed with human ability. Take the chance. The more difficult the risk the more winning power you'll put into the leap.
